How's This?—Jim Allen, in the Cynthiana Democrat, says: Paris is rejoicing over an "evidence of felicity" shown by a Bourbon farmer drawing a $3 check payable to the "the sweetest of the sweet," which his wife cashed. Now, wouldn't that flutter your ragland? Look at the sizes of the check and see

KILLED AN EAGLE.—Brutus Clay, of Escondida, killed an American eagle on the Joe Clay farm, near Escondida, which measured seven feet six inches from tip to tip. NEW ROADWAY.—Farmers in the Cane Ridge, Little Rock and North Middletown precincts are circulating petitions for signatures praying the County Court to open a new road from a point just below the Paris Distilling Company's plant, to cross Stoner Creek and connect with the street opening from the Paris Ice Company's plant on Vine street. This would cut off many miles of travel for them, and be a great saving of time, besides avoiding the necessity of going through the dark, dusty, dingy, old covered bridge near the County Jail.

A BUNCO GAME

That Was Tried on Mr. R. J. Neely, But It Wouldn't Work.

Mr. R. J. Neely, of this city, is in receipt of the following letter, which is in all probability a case of bunco, pure and simple, though just how the parties would carry out their purpose is not known. The writer of the letter claims to be a relative of Mr. Neely, but is unknown to him, and Mr. Neely attaches no importance to the communication whatever, looking upon the matter as a way in which the writer has devised a means of probably getting a loan. The letter follows:

"CASTLEFORT OF BARCELONA, January 1, 1902."

"MR. R. J. NEELY,

"MY DEAR RELATIVE: Having not the honor to know you, but from the references which my dear wife, Mary Neely, your relative, gave me, who mentioning the individuals of our family, praised the beauties and good qualities that distinguished you, I address myself to you for the first time (and perhaps the last one, considering the grave state of my health) explaining to you my sad position and requesting your protection for my only daughter, your niece, 15 years old, who I keep as a pensioner in the College of St. Elena.

"As I am strictly watched by my enemies, I hope you will reveal to nobody the most insignificant detail of this letter. Being a Secretary and Treasurer of Mr. Martiney Campos, in the last war of Cuba, and observing the confidence of such an illustrious gentleman, placing my capital hands—transactions, so that I might make a brilliant position for my daughter, whom I ever loved with passion, since when her mother died. Now, my fortune increased fast and would have been happy had my protector continued at the end of the campaign, as no sooner was he replaced by the General Weyler than my unfortunate presented itself, as I could not succeed in making him company to Spain, and not being in my power to see Cuba ruled by an adversary, I joined the rebellion in behalf of the rebellion, but as we were victims of the greatest treason, I was obliged to emigrate to English ground, taking along with me my money, valued at $36,000 sterling, after having received some time in London, I received the sad news my wife had died, leaving my dear daughter in despair and without help in this sad situation. I found myself in the necessity of coming back to Spain to help my daughter and bring her in my company to your country.

"Before starting, considering it imprudent to take along with me this respectable sum of money, I desired to place it in the London bank against a special private contract, and only as a deposit as it appears in the security document, payable to the bearer, that the bank gave me as a guarantee, which document I have hidden in a concealed hollow of my portmanteau, very well made, which the most keenest eyes cannot find out. When very satisfied that the money was in security, I started for Spain to help my daughter, where I was discovered by the military authorities and brought immediately before the government minister of Barcelona and condemned to 18 year p-nal servitude and to und-rgo my confinement at the castle of Barcelona, where I bitterly suffer, deprived of all communication from outside, even with my daughter. When I was sentenced, my equipage and the portmanteau were confiscated, this embargo was made as a guarantee for the payment of the costs of my process. Here I am amidst so many afflictions, not expecting any help whatever from my enemies, and am only visited by the chaplain of this Castle, who, besides being my confessor, is my best friend. I owe to him to being able to write this letter, being aware of my grave state of health, which will be a fatal and prompt one, I trust in your discretion the noble wish of pretending your protection, should you be kind enough to be the support of my daughter, trying to make her happy, as perhaps I may be able to see her again.

"My daughter will possess a fortune of $36,000 sterling, also my equipage. We will act then accordingly for getting my capital, which will be granted to my daughter, Emily, in my testament, and a part beside for you, and your family, as a justly reward.

"As it is prohibited to me to receive any public correspondence, I expect you will send the letters under two envelopes, the one inside to my name and the one outside to the name of the servant of the Chaplain of this Castle, who is our confidential man.

"I trust to your discretion the future of my daughter, meantime I remain, 'Your faithfully and relative,'
"MARIANO-BEESOT."
"Address: Spain, Mr. Alverto Dominiague, Castle St. Pallas, 89 rota, Barcelona."

A GOOD CAUSE.—Rev. R. E. O'Byrne, the district superintendent of the Kentucky Children's Home Society, was here several days of last week and met with better success than heretofore in collections. This is a most worthy cause that Mr. O'Byrne is engaged in, and everyone who is able should lend a helping hand.
